

JAG Reporter

Article Submission Guidance

THE JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL'S SCHOOL

FROM THE EDITOR

Thank you for your interest in The JAG Reporter. We rely on your submissions to obtain critical, timely and educational information for our readers. We are also happy to discuss your ideas for potential future articles for publication.

One of the JAG Corps' core competencies is legal information mastery. The JAG Reporter aims to facilitate this competency through the dissemination of information on significant, current, and developing legal issues to the field.

The JAG Reporter publishes articles on a myriad of subjects that are of interest to the legal and military communities. Submissions are accepted from all sources, but priority is given to Air Force judge advocates, paralegals, and civilian attorneys. Student submissions are also welcome. The JAG Reporter does not pay compensation for items selected for publication. The JAG Reporter does not return unused articles. Previous editions of The JAG Reporter are available electronically at <https://www.jagreporter.af.mil/Archive/> and on LexisNexis®.

The JAG Reporter is a digital publication produced by the United States Air Force Judge Advocate General's Corps (JAG Corps) <https://www.jagreporter.af.mil>.

CONTACT INFORMATION:

Reporter Editor-In-Chief

<https://www.jagreporter.af.mil/Contact-Us/>

SUBMISSIONS:

Submissions should be submitted via e-mail to afloa.afjags@us.af.mil

ARTICLE TOPICS

The JAG Reporter welcomes articles on any area of the law, legal practice, or procedure that would be of interest to members of the JAG Corps. The JAG Reporter focuses on the JAG Corps' legal domains as well as the National Security Strategy and the National Defense Strategy.

CIVIL LAW: Civil law is a diverse and constantly changing area of law that falls under the JAG Corps core competency of robust legal programs. Timely and relevant articles on areas such as family law, consumer law, and wills are essential. Civil law disciplines are interwoven with the acquisition, operation, protection, and preservation of the force and its people, funds, weapon systems, materiel, and installations.

LEADERSHIP: Judge advocates and senior paralegals are leaders in addition to being legal professionals. Thus, the development of leadership skills cannot be neglected. Articles that share leadership philosophies and lessons learned in order to help foster leadership skill development are welcome. Our mission readiness and success depend on leadership development across all domains, including knowledge management, professional development, training, planning and resourcing, and inspections.

MILITARY JUSTICE AND DISCIPLINE: Fair military justice is a JAG Corps core competency and, as such, articles that disseminate helpful military justice primers, “tricks of the trade,” lessons learned, best practices, and changes in the law are a priority for The JAG Reporter. The purpose of military law is to promote justice, to assist in maintaining good order and discipline in the armed forces, to promote efficiency and effectiveness in the military establishment, and thereby strengthen national security.

OPERATIONS AND INTERNATIONAL LAW: Articles that cover operations in the international environment are welcomed. Operations and International law capabilities enhance command situational awareness, maximize decision space, and promote optimal conditions for the projection of ready forces to defend the Nation and our allies.

BOOK REVIEWS: Reviews of recently published books on legal or military topics that offer criticism or praise as to content, style, or simple readability. The review provides legal or practical context and can either entice one to read an entire book or save one from the wasted effort. Reviews of multiple books on a common theme (e.g., review of top ten books on trial practice) are also welcome.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

ARTICLE FORM: The JAG Reporter is a magazine-style publication. Submissions no more than 3,500 words in length, excluding footnotes (no more than 1,000 for book reviews), contain a short and interesting title, and use short sub-headings to roadmap the article's content. Articles must be submitted in Microsoft Word format via e-mail. As scholarly articles, most submissions will be expected to contain citations. Citations must follow the footnote format prescribed by the 20th Edition of The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation. Refer to the Editing & Formatting Guidelines, in the following section for additional information on article formatting.

TITLE PAGE: Include a separate title page containing author information detailed below. This title page must also include a 100 – 200 word abstract for article submissions. The abstract is aimed at readers outside the discipline and is intended to provide a basic-level introduction to the field; a brief background on the topic; a statement of the main legal issues; and how the article benefits or advances the field.

AUTHOR INFORMATION: Along with your article submission, please provide appropriate biographical data concerning the author(s) in the title page, to include: (1) rank (if any), (2) duty position/job title, (3) duty location/affiliate location, (4) educational background, (5) bar affiliation (if any), (6) most current official photograph (head and shoulders in business appropriate attire), (7) e-mail address, mailing address and phone number (for editing staff use only). DO NOT place biographical information within the body of your article or numbered footnotes and sanitize identifying information from the article file.

ARTICLE REVIEW: All article submissions are reviewed to ensure suitability for publication and applicability to The JAG Reporter's core topical areas (see article topics). The JAG Reporter is a double-blind peer review publication, meaning author(s) and editor(s) identity are concealed throughout the process. Articles selected for publication undergo an editorial and technical review, as well as a policy and security clearance evaluation. The editors may make necessary revisions or deletions without prior permission from, nor coordination with, the author. Nonetheless, we will attempt to coordinate the revisions or deletions with the authors, time permitting. Contributors are responsible for the accuracy of all material submitted, including citations and other references. The JAG Reporter generally does not publish material committed for publication in other journals.

PHOTOS: If you provide photos, they must be copy-right free. You must include the photographer's name and a caption for each photo. Note, the editors reserve the right to use, edit, or crop photos. Photos may be used for a specific issue or archived for future use. Not all photos may be published.

EDITING & FORMATTING GUIDE

The JAG Reporter follows Air Force Handbook 33-337, The Tongue & Quill, for grammar and presentation guidance and the 21st edition of The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation for citations. Authors must ensure their articles comply with the above standards prior to submission. Additionally, articles should be formatted as indicated below.

1. DIGITAL FILE FORMAT: Microsoft Word Document. The body of the article should be double-spaced in “Times New Roman” in 12-point font.
2. READABILITY: Keep formatting to a minimum. Do not embed graphics, charts, or tables in the text; you may include them in a separate file. The article will appear differently when published online.
3. ROMAN NUMERAL HEADINGS: This is a blog style magazine, so remove all Roman Numeral heading structures and update to short descriptive headings and sub-headings.
4. FOOTNOTES: Footnotes should be in “Times New Roman” in 10-point font. There should be one space between the footnote number and the note text. In addition:
 - a. DO NOT place author’s biographical information within the article or as a footnote.
 - b. Utilize the “cross reference” feature for all footnotes referencing another footnote not immediately preceding that footnote (such as infra, supra, etc.). This ensures references are anchored to their appropriate reference note, even when intermediary notes are deleted or added during drafting/editing.
 - c. Microsoft Word’s cross-referencing feature allows an author to link a citation to other citations in the same document. Cross-referencing is essential to the editing process because it avoids having to make numerous manual edits throughout the document in the event a footnote number is changed, deleted, or added. If you are unsure how to cross-reference, Microsoft Word Support provides a detailed explanation on how to cross-reference.
5. SYMBOLS/TYPEFACE: Certain symbols and typefaces are used routinely. For example: The “em dash” [—] should be used rather than a “double hyphen” [--].
 - a. To find required symbols in Word: Select “Insert” from the ribbon menu on the top of the window. Next, in the Symbol section click “Symbol” and click “More Symbols.” You can set up a shortcut key by selecting the symbol and then clicking “Shortcut Key...” from the bottom of the menu box.
 - b. The section symbol [§] is most frequently used in the footnotes, rarely in the text (it’s spelled out in the text, except for the US Code). Use the same directions for getting into the Symbol Chart.

c. ALL CAPS and Small Caps. Small Caps are used for the titles of books and law reviews, as well as the author's byline. To utilize small caps in Word: First, input the information in regular type with normal capitalization. Next, highlight the words you wish to be in small caps and click "Home" on the ribbon menu on the top of the window. Within the Font section click the small arrow in the bottom right corner of the section. Finally, tick the "Small Caps" check box and hit OK to exit.

6. ABBREVIATIONS AND CONSISTENT WORD USE: Spell out words in full with assigned abbreviation in parentheses following the word before using an abbreviation alone.

7. TITLE PAGE: A separate document with a 100 – 200 word abstract on your article (detailed on page 2) as well as appropriate biographical data concerning the author(s) using the example here:

Major Reporter A. Author, USAF, (B.A., Georgetown University; M.S., Lehman College; J.D., Roger Williams School of Law; LL.M., George Washington University) is currently assigned as a Special Assistant to the U.S. Attorney General, detailed to the U.S. Department of Justice, Environmental and Natural Resources Division. [E-mail] [Phone]

COMMON EDITING ERRORS

COMMON CITATION ERRORS:

- Lack of cross-referencing footnotes.
- Using supra with statutes and case names
- Placement of a period outside of quotation marks when placing quotes around a single word for emphasis at the end of a sentence

CORRECT PROCESS:

- Create CROSS-REFERENCING FOOTNOTES using Word's cross-referencing feature to prevent manually having to update them after inserting new notes or moving blocks of text.
- SUPRA AND INFRA "should not be used to refer to cases, statutes, constitutions, or other legislative materials or regulations except in extraordinary circumstances, such as when the name of the authority is extremely long," Bluebook Rule 4.2. Instead, consider using "hereinafter."
- PUNCTUATION WITH QUOTATIONS: "When using quotation marks with other punctuation, the comma and period are always placed inside the closing quotation marks; the semicolon is always placed outside the closing quotation marks; the dash, exclamation mark and question mark are placed according to the structure of the sentence." AFH 33-337, The Tongue and Quill p. 327.